

What You See Depends on Where You Sit

League of California Cities | Planning Commissioner Academy

A planner, a commissioner and an attorney all walk into the room…" Not the beginning of a joke, but rather the beginning of a Commission meeting. Everyone in the room has a different perspective that is the result of their responsibilities. During this session, we'll hear from a City Attorney, a Planning Commissioner, and Planning Director on what they each focus on during the meeting. We'll discuss the most important part of the meeting to each, how their perspective on public input may differ, and what happens when the Commission does something unexpected.
