BIOGRAPHY

Denise Bazzano is a member of Burke's Public Law Practice Group where she leverages her multi-faceted experience in municipal law and litigation to assist public entities in a variety of legal and regulatory matters.

Denise advises city councils and staff on a wide range of both transactional and litigated matters including issues relating to code enforcement, cannabis regulation, criminal prosecution, contracts, land use, public works projects, animal control, purchasing and liability exposure. Her experience also includes reviewing policies, procedures and projects to ensure compliance with state and federal codes, including the California Environmental Quality Act, the Brown Act, the Public Contracting Code and the Public Records Act. Denise also provides training to city councils and staff to ensure compliance with AB 1234 obligations.

Denise previously served as a Deputy City Attorney for the City of San Jose, where she managed a complex and diversified caseload covering municipal, construction, environmental, tort, police civil rights, and criminal law.
