Joel Halverson is a trial lawyer and transactional counselor adept at resolving clients' legal problems and guarding them against losses. He focuses his practice in the areas of professional liability, construction, and real property.

Joel is an experienced trial lawyer and transactional counselor committed to servicing the design, construction, real estate, and insurance communities. His practice for over 30 years has primarily focused on the representation of design and construction professionals, which followed years of experience working in the trades and family electrical contracting businesses.

In the construction and design arenas, Joel represents design professionals, contractors, owners and contractors in claims as well as transactional and risk-management counseling, helping clients avoid disputes and limit exposure through strategic planning. He serves as outside general counsel to many firms and has successfully represented design and construction clients in jury and bench trials in state and federal courts, arbitration, mediation and other dispute resolution procedures.

Joel is a published author in the design and construction fields and a frequent presenter and lecturer on legal topics and has made appearances as a legal analyst on KRON4 News, San Francisco. He has been named among the "Best Lawyers in the Bay Area" for construction litigation based on a survey conducted by Bay Area Lawyer Magazine.

Joel is active in a number of professional organizations, including the American Council of Engineering Companies (ACEC) and the Association of Defense Counsel of Northern California (ADC).
