

2015 Legal Trends

Burke, Williams & Sorensen, LLP is pleased to present its 8th Edition of Legal Trends. This edition continues the tradition of producing Legal Trends which was started by the law firm of Kay & Stevens 20 years ago prior to their attorneys joining Burke in June of 2008. The purpose of Legal Trends remains to inform public sector employers about key areas of labor and employment law, and to inform public agencies about new developments in these areas of law.

With over 100 attorneys in nine offices throughout California, Burke has a remarkable combination of experience in California public labor relations and employment law, involving the representation of numerous cities, school districts, community college districts, and other public entities. Burke will continue to provide this vital publication to public sector employers in the years to come. This new edition continues to provide the insightful and concise information you have come to rely on from Legal Trends.
